Dear Niveshaay Security Team,

I am a security researcher conducting responsible disclosure and would like to inform you of a potentially serious misconfiguration on your mail server.

The endpoint `https://mail.niveshaay.com/storage/` is accessible but throws a 500 Internal Server Error. This folder, commonly used by Laravel and other backend frameworks, often contains sensitive files like uploads, logs, or environment variables. Even though it's currently broken, it may have been publicly accessible or cached by search engines.

I recommend restricting access to this directory and reviewing access logs for past exposure.

If needed, I'd be happy to provide technical guidance.

Best regards,
Maturi Jaswanth Sai Madhu Mohan
